

Workshop Program

Cold War in the Mediterranean: Connecting the Fronts

Led by Victoria de Grazia vd19@columbia.edu

Friday, November 14, International Affairs, Columbia University

9:30 am: Introduction, Victoria de Grazia, Director, European Institute, Columbia University

9:45-11:15 am: Super Power Agendas and Mental Maps

The USSR's Mediterranean Strategy, Vladislav Zubok, Temple University

From the Truman to the Eisenhower Doctrine, Effie Pedaliu, University of the West of England, Bristol

Discussion leaders: Anders Stephanson, Columbia University; Jack Snyder, Columbia University

11:30-1:00 pm: Connecting the Fronts

Italy as Western Front, Silvio Pons, Italian Academy and University of Rome, Tor Vergata

Palestine-Israel as Eastern Front, Irene Gendzier, Boston University

The Stopper in the Neck of the Bottle: Turkey, Barin Kayaoglu, University of Virginia

Discussion leader: Mary Nolan, New York University

2:00-4:00 pm: The Clash of Models

The Macro-Economic Picture, J. Adam Tooze, Cambridge University

Greece and the Marshall Plan, Polymeris Voglis, University of Thessaly

The Algerian Experiment, Jeffrey Byrne, London School of Economics

Discussion leader: Mahmood Mamdani, Columbia University

4:15-6:00 pm: The Long View: Great Powers in the Mediterranean

The Perspective from the Longue Durée, Terry Burke, University of California, Santa Cruz

Framing the Legacy of the New Order and Old Empires, Mark Mazower, Columbia University

Discussion leader: Yanni Kotsonis, New York University

Saturday, November 15

9:30-11:15 am: Oil and Intervention

The Oil Question, Egypt, 1973, Tim Mitchell, Columbia University

The View from America's Kingdom, Robert Vitalis, University of Pennsylvania

Mattei, ENI, and Western Europe, Elisabetta Bini, New York University

Discussion leader: Irene Gendzier, Boston University

11:30-1:00: The Cultural Cold War in the Mediterranean Area

Anthropology and Amoral Familism, Jane Schneider, Graduate School, CUNY

Cold Chills down my History: Greece, Neni Panourgia, Columbia University

Yugoslavia's Cultural "Third Way", Dean Vuletic, Columbia University

Discussion leader: Dominique Reill, University of Miami

Closing Lunch: informal discussion: Research Priorities: Post-Cold War Perspectives on the Cold War in the Mediterranean