

Executive Programme Series on AI and Negotiation

In Partnership with Columbia University,
School of International and Public Affairs
(SIPA)

Artificial intelligence is reshaping diplomacy, governance, and strategic decision-making across governments, international organizations, and the private sector. To address these emerging challenges and opportunities, the United Nations Institute for Training and Research (UNITAR) and Columbia University's School of International and Public Affairs (SIPA) have partnered to deliver an Executive Programme Series on AI and Negotiation

Key highlights:

- Explores the impact of AI on negotiation, diplomacy, governance, and executive decision-making in international contexts.
- Combines academic excellence from Columbia SIPA with UNITAR's expertise in multilateral diplomacy and capacity-building.
- Offers three specialized executive programmes: Negotiation in the Age of AI, AI Governance, and AI and Decision-Making.
